Individuals & Businesses

UCA 36-12-13(2)(d)

Enactment of this legislation could lead to increased enforcement of certain kinds of violations by employers. Employers could be more likely to be required to provide back pay or other financial relief to employees, and individual employees could be more likely to receive back pay or other financial relief. The extent of these costs and revenues would vary by case and would likely be limited to a small number of cases per year.

No performance note required for this bill

Notes on Notes

Fiscal notes estimate the direct costs or revenues of enacting a bill. The Legislature uses them to balance the budget. They do not measure a bill's benefits or non-fiscal impacts like opportunity costs, wait times, or inconvenience. A fiscal note is not an appropriation. The Legislature decides appropriations separately.
